Bankers Banqueted

The stockholders of the Bank of Campbell held their annual meeting Wednesday afternoon and elected the officers for the ensuing year. The board of directors consists of Dr. C. N. Cooper, J. L. Hagelin, R. K. Thomas, S. G. Rodeck, W. H. Hinde, J. C. Ainsley, E. I. Price, J. F. Duncan, E. A. Duncan and R. Allison.

The officers are C. N. Cooper, president; R. K. Thomas, vice president; J. F. Duncan, cashier; Ralston Allison and R. G. Archibald, assistants to the cashier.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralston Allison were host and hostess to the directors and bank force at a six o'clock dinner at their new home that evening. After dinner the guests gathered about the fireplace and enjoyed a real visit. Mrs. Allison was assisted by Mrs. H. V. Archibald.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Hyde entertained a party of friends at rook Tuesday evening at their home on Second street. Those present were, Messrs. and Mesdames Ralston Allison, Paul Clarke, D. H. Cramer, E. R. Kennedy, W. I. Merrill and H. C. Smith. In a tie for first, D. H. Cramer defeated Mrs. H. C. Smith, winning a rook deck. Mrs. Smith was given a can of Geo. E. Hyde Co.'s choice stewed prunes for consolation. E. R. Kennedy won the lemon for foot prize. Light refreshments were served at the close of a most delightful evening.

Old Settler's Day Celebration

Saturday, February 21st

Judge J. E. Richards Speaker of the Day

On July 4th, 1893 a basket picnic was held in the drier. Judge Myrick was the after dinner toast master, and the principal speech of the day was made by Rev. C. C. Cragin. Most of the citizens of Campbell and immediate vicinity were present, and the occasion was so enjoyable that, at the suggestion of E. E. White, it was unanimously voted to perpetuate the affair, and it was decided to combine "Old Settler's Day" with a celebration of Washington's birthday, to be held annually hereafter on Feb. 22nd.

A general invitation was given to the surrounding public to join us in the celebration. Every year since then there has been a gathering of the hosts on that date. Each succeeding year has seemed to be the best though so many of the first participants have passed on. A most cordial invitation is extended to all the citizens of the county and visiting friends to come out and help to make 1914 our banner year.

Judge Richards has been secured as the orator of the day.
Signed PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

Improvement Club Meeting

COMMITTEES NAMED

At the regular meeting of the Improvement Club Friday evening, it was decided to hold the Washington's Birthday—Old Settler's Celebration on Saturday, February 21st instead of Monday on account of the school teachers and pupils who would be at school Monday.

The principal speaker for the occasion will be Judge Richards of San Jose. John F. Duncan was unanimously chosen for chairman of the day.

The following were placed on the reception committee:

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Thomas, Chairmen, Mrs. P. G. Keith, Messrs. and Mesdames S. G. Rodeck, G. E. Hyde, J. C. Ainsley, J. H. Campbell, J. L. Hagelin, W. D. Sturtevant, T. Mendel, J. F. Duncan, R. Allison, F. O. Putnam, J. E. Palmer, Jos. Bohnett, O. Strom, C. N. Cooper, I. W. Merrill, W. D. Waite, C. B. Miracle, A. J. Farley, C. Berry, A. P. Merrill, H. V. Archibald, B. O. Curry, E. R. Kennedy, E. A. Barker, J. H. Graves, P. B. Payne, J. D. Sawyer, C. H. Whitman, R. W. Kennedy, P. W. Keith, C. J. Rixie, Rev. G. E. Atkinson, Rev. W. H. Johnstone, Mrs. M. J. Wilson and Mrs. Beardsley.

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Newcomb and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Adams were appointed as a refreshment committee.

The decorating committee appointed consisted of Mrs. S. R. Wade, chairman, Mrs. Charlotte Sutter, Mrs. B. Downing, Messrs. and Mesdames Ralph Hyde, C. B. Miracle, E. E. Lanphear and Jas.

Fablinger.

The ushers are: Roy Archibald, head-usher, P. B. Payne, Claud Gard, C. L. Watson and E. C. Merrill.

President Lanz appointed the following standing committees for the year.

Committee on Membership: R. K. Thomas, W. W. Dunham, M. L. Waite and J. H. Campbell.

Committee on Advertising: H. C. Smith, E. R. Kennedy, B. O. Curry and E. A. Barker.

Committee on Public Improvement: A. W. Adams, S. G. Rodeck, C. H. Whitman and A. J. Farley.

Committee on Finance: R. Allison, C. Berry, P. B. Payne and Lottie L. Miracle.

Rev. Atkinson, as chairman on the committee for speaker, reported that Judge J. E. Richards had kindly consented to speak taking as his subject "The Spirit of the Pioneer."

The following new members were elected: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hagelin, Mr. and Mrs. O. Strom, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Henry Brown and E. A. Barker.

A vote of thanks was given Baker Engel for his assistance in the connection with the banquet.

The report of the finance committee of the banquet and membership receipts leave a total of $12.50 in the general fund. The special fund is a trifle over $20.

Campbell is sure destined to be a town of music. Besides the Glee Club, there is now a Violin Class of over twenty and among the later day recruits are to be found Professors Cramer and Snow.

F. B. Olmstead, formerly in the drug and stationery business in Campbell, was out from San Jose Wednesday on business. He and Mrs. Olmstead expect to go to Santa Cruz the first of the month to open up a store at the Surf City.

A new business firm will soon launch its "Aeroplane" in Campbell and as its "Self Starter" is by no means a novice at the business it will go doubt be a go. Our townsman, Will E. Wright will enter the real estate business in conjunction with an office in San Jose and Pacific Grove.

Rev. W. H. Johnstone of the M. E. Church spent Tuesday in Los Gatos on business matters.

Prof. Zeidler was confined to his home the first of the week with an attack of tonsillitis but is at his duties again.

After being confined to his house for six weeks or more, Grandpa Brown was able to be down town shaking hands with his friends.

Dr. C. N. Cooper brought to the Press office for display a cluster of five fine large seedless lemons grown in his yard. The Doctor also has some large specimens of seed lemons and Japanese oranges which he is showing. Doctor takes great pride in his little home garden and well he may because of his success.

A Novel Danger Signal

Recently an Oakland bound passenger train out of San Jose was flagged at the bridge crossing Coyote creek on account of the dangerous appearance of the approach. The flagman in this case was a gentle woman who noticed that the approach had partially washed away by the flood of the Creek and feared a wreck. The remarkable part of the story is the inventive genius of the lady who didn't have a red petticoat nor table cloth. What do you think she did.

After a puzzled moment or two she rushed to her flower garden and picked a large bunch of scarlet geraniums, which grow so profusely in California the year round, and rushed to the danger spot waving the bouquet to the engineer just in time to stop the train at the bridge.

On examination it was found that the bridge was safe for this train to cross but needed immediate repairing.

What has been done by way of appreciation of this act is not known, but this modest lady deserves not only a Carnegie medal, but letters of commendation for her novel invention.

WENT ON WITH THE DANCE

Fiddler Wouldn't Allow Slight Interruption to Interfere With Evening's Pleasure.

It was a Thanksgiving dance given at a mountain farm house. There was only one fiddler, and he was also the caller. His calls puzzled me at first, but no one else appeared to mind it as he drawled:

"Right and left on the head, and Bill Taylor don't want to drop that revolver on the floor! Balance four and half-promenade, and Jim Henderson has a knife in his bute-leg! Ladies change, and Luke Williams is achin' to pick a furse with Tom Beebe! All balance to partners, and when the shootin' begins please remember that the fiddler never takes sides."

We had been dancing about an hour, and everybody seemed to be thoroughly good-natured and at peace with all mankind, when the farmer beckoned to me and whispered:

"I said I'd give you five minutes' warnin', but I'm two minutes behind time! Break fer the barn!"

I broke, but was not over 30 feet from the door when the shooting began. It lasted about five minutes, and I cautiously returned to hear the fiddler in the same old monotonous voice:

"Take partners for the Virginia reel and don't make sich a furse over three men wounded! First lady and gent forward and back, and Bill Taylor has gone fur a doctor! Forward again and sasha, and somebody attend to that gal in hysterics! Swing with the right—now with the left, and if this isn't the most successful dance of the season then you folks needn't pay me a cent!"

REAL COLD STORAGE EGGS

Robert Brown of Eastview owns a Plymouth Rock hen who has been operating a cold storage plant of her own.

Recently brown was attracted by the hen's cackle and followed her to his ice house and there hidden under the floor were 72 eggs. Brown believes that the hen wandered into the ice house and finding a cool spot laid an egg and after starting the nest went there ever yday.

As eggs are much higher now, Brown says his hen is not alone a good cold storage proposition, but a financier, and he expects his neighbors will now train their hens to lay cold storage eggs.

Standards of Value.

A recent decision of a supreme court jury in New York state fixed the value of an interlocutor in a minstrel show at $1,055.42, says Life. This gentleman was killed in a railroad accident.

The interest on this sum at 5 per cent., roughly speaking, is $50 a year. It is, therefore, interesting to learn that there can be a kind of standard value fixed to the life of a public entertainer.

The decision seems to be fair, as we think it is generally conceded that the end man in a minstrel show has a certain value. He can probably make us forget our troubles occasionally, and is entitled to be worth at least $50 a year.

But on this basis, how much is an after-dinner speaker worth? Or, to put it another way, how much should we be willing to pay any railroad to run over one?

Sober Peterborough.

The dean of Peterborough, England, has said that during the five years he has been in Peterborough he has never seen a drunken person in the streets. Peterborough, it appears, is free from the reproach that attaches to most cathedral cities. It can regard Winchester with a lofty scorn. Many years ago Lord Tennyson drove through the streets of Winchester on the box-seat of a coach, and the poet said to the coachman, "What sort of a place is this?" "Debauched, sir," was the sad reply. "Debauched, like all other cathedral cities."

A Good Lesson.

"When a man goes out looking for trouble he usually finds it."

"Quite so, and when he finds it in the form of a hard-hitting person who is a better fighter than he is, the chances are that he will remember exactly how, when and where he found it."

Very Angry.

"Weren't you angry when he kissed you?" inquired Maud.

"Indeed, I was," replied her pretty sister.

"And did you make him apologize?"

"I should say I did. I made him apologize six times."

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

CHILD'S TOY CART IS NOVEL

Bottom Lets Down and Dumps Contents of Vehicle on Floor—Operated by Small Springs.

Children's toys nowadays reproduce almost everything used in real life, and an example of this is the toy dump cart designed by a New Hampshire man. The toy works on the same principle as a real dump cart, and by pressing a spring the bottom lets down and the contents roll out on the floor or ground, according to where the owner is playing. The bottom portion of this toy cart is fastened to the axles of the wheels, and an upwardly inclined portion is pivoted to the sides. The sides and back of the cart are stationary. The back end of the bottom portion is connected with the back of the cart by means of springs, and can be released by quick, slight pressure. When this is done the weight of the contents of the cart force the bottom down from the rear and roll out, the upper portion of the body of the cart being raised a little in the process. This makes no difference, however, to the position of the horse, which trots along on its single wheel in the same attitude as before. Any little teamster will tell you that this dump cart is a big improvement over one that you have to pick the load out of by hand.

WHEN THERE WAS NO SHADOW

Interesting Occurrence in Mid-ocean on February 13, 1913—Sun Was Vertically Overhead.

Every one knows that when a person stands in the full sunshine his body casts a shadow which will be either short or long, according as the sun is high up in the heavens or near the horizon at sunrise or sunset. A little thought will bring it home to the reader that obviously, if the sun is exactly vertical over a person's head there can be no shadow. But the problem is to determine when and where this shall be the state of things. As regards the "where," that must evidently be at some place on the earth in the tropics, and the "when" must be the hour of midday. To get these two things to concur by prearrangement is a matter of no small difficulty. But as a matter of fact they did occur on a day in February, 1913—namely, the 13th, when a scientific friend of mine, W. B. Gibbs, was in mid-ocean in latitude 15 degrees south, the sun's declination being also about 15 degrees south. A photo, reproduced in the Strand, represents Mr. Gibbs and another man standing bolt upright on the deck facing one another, and clearly shows the absence of any sign of a lateral shadow—in other words, it proves that the ship was in such a latitude that the sun was vertically overhead, and that the time was noon, when the sun was at its highest altitude as between east and west.

Why He Likes Them.

"How does your Willie get along with the new children next door?"

"Just splendid. He can lick all three of them."

A WELCOME GUEST.

"I'm awfully glad you're going to take dinner with us."

"It's nice to hear you say so."

"Cause if you hadn't come there would have been just 13 of us to sit down to the table, and mamma is so superstitious she'd have made me wait."

Hat Much in Favor With College Girls

WHETHER she is a joyous coed or only just a plain girl, she is sure of the favor of her knight of the athletic field, if she is crowned with a hat flaunting his college colors. Such hats are made and provided now at the order of any school, and are so constructed that any emblem or pattern is woven in or built into the body of the hat in any way which a particular school may want.

Here are two of the best liked shapes worn by "fans" on all sorts of occasions. This is a new idea in headwear. The hats are made of chenilles, yarns and specially woven fabrics that have a core of wire, and they are crocheted by hand. Or yarns, chenilles and other things are crocheted over small supporting wires into the required shapes.

The fine invisible wires are very light. They are a part of the flexible body of the hat. The shape is supported but not made in the least rigid by them. There is no way of distinguishing them except by their trade name, and they are called Kinnard hats in honor of the inventor. The inventor, one may stop to note, is a woman, and her achievement is a notable one. It was inspired by the need of a really sensible and beautiful auto hat.

It is made to stand rough handling and to withstand the rain. In spite of these very practical qualities there is nothing commonplace about this production. It is, of necessity, out of any class of cheap hats and it looks the aristocrat of headwear.

The idea embodied in the college hats pictured here is by no means confined to hats of this character. Motor hats, for all sorts of wear, prove a delight and blessing to the motorist. But the new hat has entered the arena with time-honored dress hat ideals, and the chances are will score heavily. It is so thoroughly American—so honest and so well suited to all the occasions for which it has been manufactured.

QUAINT QUAKER BONNET OF SILK FOR DEBUTANTE

IF the debutante aspires to looking demure let her array herself simply and don a Quaker bonnet. Not a plain and colorless affair, but a pretty and altogether bewitching development which betrays a playful mood in the mind of its designer. Such a little bonnet is pictured here.

It is really a capacious bonnet, covering a somewhat elaborate coiffure, for it is meant only for wear when the maid is considerably "dressed up." A light-colored gown of crepe de chine made on simple lines, with a little drapery, a round "Dutch" neck and a wide frill of lace about it, this makes up a costume quite elaborate enough for a youthful wearer to be gowned in full dress.

To save the day for such a girlish costume and to lift it out of the realm of commonplace and into that of the imagination, this little joke of a bonnet is just the thing.

The lines depart from the Quaker model, for the brim flares out in points at the side in the fashion of bonnets worn by Dutch maidens. Pretty colors—pink and rose, blue, gold and lavender (which bespeak romance), are all in the ring when it comes to a choice of color. The facing is of shirred chiffon, the outer brim and soft shirred crown of taffeta. It slips over the head and stays there without a pin or tie.

Little bows of velvet ribbon finish it at the sides. Velvet cherries and velvet foliage, tied together with small chenille cord, are placed at the center of the top and a little to each side.

There are certain types of faces to which this demure style is wonderfully becoming. Happy the maid or youthful matron who can wear them! Women appreciate their sweet charm and men lose their hearts to it.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

LATEST STYLES IN LINGERIE

Night and Boudoir Caps Are Both Being Worn—Camisoles Entirely of Lace in Favor.

Night caps and boudoir caps are still worn. Many of the former are knitted or netted, the open character of these being better for the hair than material of closer kind, allowing of ventilation. The boudoir caps are made of ribbon and lace, the latter flat and drooping at either side of the face. There is less lawn or muslin than in the caps of last season. The new camisoles are cut away in a point in front to suit the open fronted dresses. Even the winter woven spencers are treated in a similar fashion, to accord with the mode.

Many camisoles are made entirely of lace. Some fasten at the back, others in front. It is notable that many of the new season's blouses fasten in front, a great relief to the wearers who do not possess lady's maids.

Dependable Workbag.

A workbag that purposes to yield its contents to all is a very satisfactory possession to the tidily minded and a most useful globe-trotter's joy.

Made of heavy silk tapestry glistening with gold threads in a long baglike form, it has bars at the top inside, with rings slung upon them. From each ring hangs something useful—the necessary reel of cotton, the scissors, the thimble, the stiletto and so forth. Not even the most hardened picker up of unconsidered trifles would detach from their shackles such commodities which are therefore always at hand when required.

There is plenty of room in the bag for light needlework.

Coming of Beads.

There is a great vogue in beads; they are used for embroideries, fringes, girdles, and all sorts of things in dress. Time was when sequins took their place, but now beads are back again in full possession, and such sequins as are used bear a stronger resemblance to beads than to scales.

Gold Lace Belts on Blouses.

On some of the new satin blouses there are wide belts of gold lace. The blouses are worn, naturally, under the skirt, and the belts are so attached to the blouses that they fall over the skirt-laps. The lace is mounted over gold net or chiffon.

Nearly everything in hats for little girls is a mushroom shape.

PREPARE FOR COLD WEATHER

Bees Must Be Given Proper Protection—Hens House Should Be Made Snug and Then Whitewashed.

Where are the bees going to winter? In the cellar or out-of-doors exposed to the storm? If in the cellar, a place should be prepared for them now, so that when cold weather sets in for good the hives can be quickly placed in position.

Once more: Never set the hives flat on the floor of the cellar—as some people do. Bees must have fresh air, and be kept free from dampness.

Every stormy day in which the hens are allowed to wander about without shelter, adds to the discrepancy in the egg basket.

Of course we can wait until stormy weather sets in before making the chickenhouse snug and comfortable, but it will cost us something, in the loss of eggs, to do it.

After it has been made all comfortable for the winter, take the time to give it another whirl of spraying with whitewash into which two teaspoonfuls of carbolic acid to the pailful have been dropped.

If we will put the drag on the road after late rains, right up until the ground freezes, we will have very much better roads when the frost comes out of the ground next spring.

It takes some courage to weed out the poultry flock down to the very essence of good quality, but this is the month to do it. Why feed any old scrubs during the long winter months? Stuff them two weeks, and send them to market.

Many people do not know that the tops of turnips, sugar beets and carrots can be cut off without impairing their keeping qualities. This should be done before they are put into winter quarters.

Maybe it is too late to gather radishes for the fowls. If you have neglected to do this, you can give them sifted coal-ashes, which is the next best thing.

A few dollars invested in storm-doors on the house will not only save fuel, but will prevent sudden blasts of cold air from reaching the occupants—a thing which is always attended by some danger.

If you will put storm-windows over the regular windows, be sure to provide openings in both for proper ventilation. It is a fearful thing to sleep in an air-tight room.

BUILD SUITABLE HOG HOUSES

Building May Be Cheap and Simple in Construction, but Should Be Convenient—Easily Arranged.

When hogs are handled in large numbers, or where twenty or more brood sows are kept, a hog house large enough to accommodate the majority of the stock is often found. This system has the advantage of enabling the breeder to handle his hogs with less expenditure of labor and time than is possible if they are scattered over a larger area.

When such a house seems desirable, it may be cheap and simple in construction, but should be convenient. It should run east and west, and is most easily arranged with a row of pens on each side of an alley way, which extends the entire length of the building. The walls may be of one-inch material siding, but should fit very close in order to prevent draughts. The roof should be moderately high, to provide sufficient ventilation. Quite a number of windows should be installed in order to provide sufficient sunlight to keep the pens dry and free from disease. The pens should be 7 by 8, or, for large sows, 8 by 10 feet.

There are many things to be said in favor of individual houses. First of all the hogs can be scattered more, thus lessening the chances of disease spreading through the entire herd. Secondly, fields and pastures may be utilized regardless of their location or proximity to other farm buildings. Third, such buildings are quite inexpensive, and the number can be increased as the herd increases in size. There are many types of these houses. For a single sow, the A type is usually built 6 by 8 by 6 feet high. The rectangular type is built 7 by 8 feet for one sow, or 9 by 12 and divided into two compartments. Those with the higher roof and with provisions for opening either the sides or the roof, have so far proven the most satisfactory.

Improving the Farm Home.

That farm homes are often unsanitary, and the scene of illnesses such as should be impossible in "the free, invigorating air of the country" is attributable, in probably the majority of instances, to the use of defective methods in the disposal of the waste and sewage of the house. The noisome cess-pool and the undrained privy—cold, malodorous and soil polluting—make such large additions to the rate of mortality as to rob the country, in a measure, of its natural superiority over the town in the statistics of health.

FOUR SPECIAL DISHES

SELECTED RECIPES THAT ARE OF MERIT.

Mushrooms With Eggs Always Appreciated—Salmi of Lamb a General Favorite—Stewed Plums Excellent Dessert.

Mushrooms With Eggs—Break a dozen fresh mushrooms and put them into a stewpan with a tablespoonful of butter, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, pepper to taste and a few drops of lemon juice. Cover the pan and simmer slowly for ten minutes. Then add one cupful of cream and a little chicken or veal stock, and cook slowly until the mixture begins to thicken a little. Then stir in six eggs well beaten and stir until the whole is of the consistency of scrambled eggs. Serve on well-browned toast.

Salmi of Lamb—Cook one tablespoonful of butter with one-half tablespoonful of finely chopped onion five minutes. Add 1½ tablespoonfuls of flour and cook until well browned. Pour on gradually one cupful of stock and season with one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper and one teaspoonful of walnut catchup. Reheat slices of cold roast lamb in sauce, arrange on a hot platter, having slices overlap one another, and pour sauce over meat.

Union Cake—Two cups sugar, one cup of sweet milk, one cup of butter, three cups of flour, one-half cup of cornstarch, four eggs, three level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of ground mace. Rub butter, sugar and eggs together, rubbing one egg in at a time; sift in the cornstarch and one cup of flour and the milk alternately. Lastly the two cups of flour and the baking powder. Bake in a large pan in a moderate oven, with a paper cap over the top till it's half done.

Stewed Plums—Wipe each plum with a soft, damp cloth and prick it with a fork to prevent bursting. Have the water in the preserving kettle a little more than lukewarm and gently lay the fruit in it. Bring to a gentle boil; cook just long enough for the plums to become tender, but not long enough for the skins to crack. They must be watched carefully. Remove to a deep dish, add a cup of granulated sugar to every quart of liquor, boil to a syrup and pour over the plums.

Venison Steaks and Hash.

To hash cold venison, cut the meat in nice, small slices and put the trimmings and bones into a saucepan with barely water enough to cover them. Let them stew for an hour, then strain in liquid into a stew pan, add to it some bits of butter, rolled in flour, and whatever gravy was left of the venison the day before. Stir in some currant jelly and let it boil up, then put in the meat and keep it over the fire just long enough to warm through, but do not allow it to boil, as it has been once cooked already.

Venison Steaks—Cut them from the neck or haunch. Season them with pepper and salt. When the gridiron has been well heated over a bed of bright coals, grease the bars and lay the steaks upon it. Broil them well, turn them once and take care to save as much of the gravy as possible. Serve them with some currant jelly laid on each steak. Have your plates warm.

Baked Onions in Ramekins.

Peel and parboil 12 medium-sized onions; drain; chop. Melt two tablespoons butter; add two tablespoons flour, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one and one-quarter cups cream, four tablespoons soft bread crumbs, one tablespoon chopped parsley. Boil five minutes, add one egg slightly beaten and the chopped onions. Cool slightly, add whites of two eggs, beaten stiff—more seasoning if needed. Bake in buttered ramekins 20 minutes. Serve immediately.

How to Cook Dried Peas.

Place a lump of soda the size of a walnut in a saucepan of cold water, add the peas to this and bring to the boil; allow them to boil for 40 minutes. They will then be beautifully soft and well cooked. If for soup, add to the stock, otherwise they should be drained in a colander, buttered and peppered, and set aside for a few seconds for the butter to melt well into them.

Fine-Grained Cake.

I use it for Washington pie or whipped cream pie. One cup sugar, one-half cup butter, one egg, one and one-half cups flour, one-half cup milk, one and one-half teaspoon baking powder, flavor. Bake in round tins, put together with jelly. Frost with one tablespoon of butter, one cup powdered sugar, little milk and flavor.—Exchange.

Jellied Meat.

One cup of beef which has been cooked and put through food chopper, half cup bread crumbs, salt and pepper to taste, mix well. Stir into this two-thirds cup of boiling water which has had one-half an envelope of gelatin dissolved in it. Pack in a tin and set in a cool place, after which it can be sliced.

How to Cook Beets.

Fill a pail as large as will hold as many as you want to cook. Don't cut them, as that makes them bleed. Cover with cold water, cover up tight, put in hot oven and let bake. This time of the year I put them in early so as to have them done for dinner. They are no more trouble till done.

Don't Look Old Before Your Time

That backache, so common among women, brings with it the sunken chest, the headache, tired muscles, crown's feet, and soon the youthful body is no more youthful in appearance—and all because of lack of attention.

Don't Wait Till You're All Bugged Up. Use S. S. S. Now.

If you will go into any first class store and get a bottle of S. S. S. you are on the way to getting rid of Catarrh. But don't let anyone work off that old trick of something "Just as good."

S. S. S. is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectively cleanse the system and thus put an end to all catarrhal pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.

The medicinal components of S. S. S. are relatively just as essential to well-

WHY WOMEN TIRE OF HOME

It is Their Workshop and They Grow Tired of It, Just as Men Tire of the Office.

A man goes home tired from his day's work and wonders why his wife wants to go somewhere in the evening. "Why go out?" he says. "You must dress up and put on airs and manners, and talk dreary nothings to those who talk dreary nothings back to you. Here is a delightful home to take your ease in, a cheerful fire, an uncut magazine, a drowsy armchair, why go out?"

The man does not stop to think that the woman has worked all day to make the home delightful, has laid the fire, has dusted the armchair, besides doing a thousand other things to enable him to enjoy his uncut magazine in slumberous peace. She likes a quiet evening, too, but occasionally she likes something else.

"Women haven't the home feeling," says Jones to Robinson. "Why, when I take a vacation, I want nothing better than to stay right at home, with the children, and potter round the place. I hoe a little, I carpenter a little—there are always a lot of odd jobs waiting."

"The two weeks are over before I know it. But Mary, she's different. She likes to pack her trunk and go to one of those summer hotels where you wear your best clothes and talk all day." And Robinson agrees that women haven't the home feeling.

No home feeling! To a true married woman home is indeed her world. But it is a world of care as well as a world of happiness. She never returns to it with the infinite sense of relaxation that her husband feels. No matter how tired she is, there is, from the minute she unlocks the door, something to attend to, something on her mind. What wonder is it that she wants to roam a little, if only for the pleasure of coming back.

The next time your wife asks you to take her out for an evening do not grumble, but consider how you would like it if, after you had done a hard day's work, she came into your office at 5 o'clock and suggested your passing the evening there with a magazine or two. A woman's home is her place of business.—Youth's Companion.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

You Make Friends By Recommending A Reliable Kidney Medicine

Your representative called at my door yesterday, meaning to leave a sample of your noted Swamp-Root, and I am certainly pleased to see anybody connected with the firm who makes a medicine which has done so much for me and my family. A few years ago I was suffering from a terrible pain in my back and when I was up around the house I had to walk with my body bent nearly double. If you had placed a thousand dollars above my head I could not straighten up to get it.

Hearing of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I sent you for a sample bottle, and from the effects of that small amount I was sure it would help me, so I bought one bottle and it has cured me.

Shortly after that my husband, who is a coal miner, was suffering from kidney trouble and could not work, and I sent for some of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. He was in a terrible condition, but as the doctors had not given me any relief, I had more faith in Swamp-Root, and it was well founded, for it did the work, and after taking a few bottles he was completely cured.

I daily recommend the use of Swamp-Root to my friends and neighbors. Sincerely yours, MRS. JOHN NORDQUIST, Galeton, Penna.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine. Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

Reason Enough for Tears. The telephone bell rang sharply. Dobbs recognized his wife's voice at the other end. "No," he said. "I won't forget it. But what on earth is the matter with your voice? Have you taken cold already this fall?"

"No—no—no—but I've been crying horribly. So has your mother."

Dobbs puckered up his brows and whistled softly to himself. "Well," he ventured, "ah—that is, can't you call some sort of truce until I get there? Don't quarrel any more, dear. You know what your temper does when you let it get away from you."

"Oh—but it isn't that." "Well, what is it? Tell—hello, hello!—say, central, what's the matter? You cut me off from my party. Yes, you—oh, hello, dear, what was the matter? Went out to wipe your eyes again? Well, for the love of Mike, quit it, will you?"

Beside the Bonnie Brier.

England is, above all other countries, the land of the pipe, and more specifically of the brier pipe. An editor of the London Daily Chronicle who smokes one himself lighted up the other day and went for a smoky ramble through London by tube and omnibus and pavement—in New York it would have cost him a small fortune in fines. He discovered that the fads of recent years have passed. There were no clays even among the breakers of the roadways, though Tennyson used to smoke a clay pipe. There were no corneobs, though Kipling made the Missouri meerschaum popular for a time. There were no calabashes, though the Boer war made these as fashionable as they were dear. Even in the first-rate restaurants nobody smoked a meerschaum at luncheon. In short, England has come back to its old favorite, the brier, and holds to it despite the inroads of the cigarette.

TO COMPLETE THE RECORD

Reporter Was Then on His Way to Football Field With His Hopes Strong.

"You—you are a reporter, perhaps?" queried the paternal old chap on the street car of the young man who was writing in a notebook. "Yes, sir," was the reply.

"I am glad to meet you. You go everywhere, don't you?" "Most everywhere."

"And write up all sorts of incidents?" "Yes."

"Then you have been a witness of all sorts of death?" "I have seen victims of fire, water, railroads, street cars, brewery wagons, poison, hanging and what not. I think there is only one form of death I have not seen."

"Indeed. That may be a fatal balloon accident?" "No, no. I have seen six different men fall from balloons and meet death."

"Boiling in oil, then?" "My own brother died that way. No; singular as it may seem, I am just now on my way to complete the record."

"And you are bound for—for?" "The football grounds. I want to see every bone in a player's body broken at one kick!"

Rare Find. "Here's a good joke from a London newspaper."

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Logansport, Ind.—"My baby was over a year old and I bloated till I was a burden to myself.

I suffered from female trouble so I could not stand on my feet and I felt like millions of needles were pricking me all over. At last my doctor told me that all that would save me was an operation, but this I refused. I told my husband to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I would try it before I would submit to any operation. He did so and I improved right along. I am now doing all my work and feeling fine.

"I hope other suffering women will try your Compound, I will recommend it to all I know."—Mrs. DANIEL D. B. DAVIS, 110 Franklin St., Logansport, Ind.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Captivated by Waiting Room.

The prefect of Paris police has two waiting rooms for visitors. One is for men. It is dark and rather dingy. The bareness of the walls is relieved by a railway map of France and on the table is a directory. But the women's waiting room is furnished with far greater care. In the corner is a superb Louis XV. dressing table provided with all kinds of articles, even rice powder, lip pencils, carmine, sprays containing scent to suit all tastes, bottles of toilet water and a manicure set. It is believed that the new prefect found on first assuming office that women with whom he had appointments on official affairs were often late. It is understood that the only disadvantage which he now finds is that his doorkeeper has difficulty in convincing visitors that their turn has come to leave the waiting room for the prefect's office.
